

National Congress of Women

Monday 29 November – Wednesday 1 December 2021

face-to-face (in Canberra) and online

A call to the women of Australia.

The Women's Climate Congress calls the women of Australia to a National Congress of Women. Together, we will lead a movement for a collaborative national plan on climate change – a plan that will bring the nation together and restore care for the Earth and nurture of life to the centre of all of our actions on climate.

This three-day event will encompass deep conversation and learning, authentic connection, artistic expression, collaborative action planning and interaction with elected representatives. It will build on a series of conversations with women from all over Australia hosted by the Congress during this year.

We warmly invite all women, from all walks of life, to this nonpartisan event. It is an opportunity to participate in nurturing a women's movement for change on this urgent global issue and to bring your voice to the public declaration and action plan that we will produce at the conclusion of the Congress.

Please hold the dates: More details will be available soon and will be posted on the Congress webpage at: womenscongress.weebly.com

Expressions of interest and to join a mailing list for further information: Please email womensclimatecongress@gmail.com

Women leading united action on climate change

We are women of all political persuasions, ages and walks of life. We are inspired by the International Congress of Women who, in 1915, worked together to end the war through mediation and establish the conditions for permanent peace.

We are connecting with women and political leaders across the country in the cities, towns and regions, and working to stabilise the climate and protect the Earth and the land we love for our young people and future generations.

Let's stop the political arguments over the climate and instead collaborate and cooperate to create a national plan of action.

- Find us on our website, Facebook or Twitter pages.
- Join our growing national network of women via the 'Join us' form on our website Home page.
- Establish relationships with your elected representatives.
- Make connections with other women in your community and beyond.
- Join our working groups to develop our ideas, and to contact politicians, business leaders and others.
- Participate in our online conversations and join discussions about how to move forward to shape the world we want to see.

WEBSITE

womenscongress.weebly.com

FACEBOOK

www.facebook.com/groups/2504097469905787

EMAIL

womensclimatecongress@gmail.com

TWITTER

Twitter @WomensClimateC1

Artwork: Sally Blake, Eucalyptus Mantle (ACT) (detail), 2020, made from wool, silk and linen dyed with colours from the leaves and barks of eucalypts. The artist imagined eucalypts as a mantle cloaking the country, their roots holding the soils and their leaves and branches providing habitat and shade.